DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Okada et al.

As per claims 1 and 9, Okada et al. discloses a fuel cell system comprising a fuel cell 1, hydrogen storage tank 4 under a predetermined pressure (see for example paragraphs 0008, 0010, 0011), a hydrogen absorbing hydrogen alloy (see for example paragraphs 0004 and 0015), a higher temperature maintained in the hydrogen storage alloy (see for example paragraph 10), a coolant channel (Figure 4), and a heat exchange module 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3744

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim is 8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Okada et al. in view of Marvin et al.

As per claim 8, Okada et al. does not specifically teach the fuel cell being a proton exchange membrane fuel cell. However, this is a common and well-known type of fuel cell as illustrated by Marvin et al. (see for example column 1, lines 11-44). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply such a fuel cell to the system of Okada et al. for the purpose of converting chemical energy into electrical energy (Marvin et al., column 1, lines 11-13).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-7 and 10-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
